THEN & NOW

LIFE IN THE VICTORIAN ERA

Then and Now education series takes students on a journey back in time to examine various aspects of life during the Victorian era (1837-1901) and how things compare to our modern-day existence. Life was very different then, yet some similarities still exist today.

This program includes:

- Four PDF education resources
- Free access to The Hamilton Spectator ePaper for four weeks (30 licenses per educator)
- Contest to win a free class field trip from Hamilton Civic Museums

PROGRAM SUITABLE FOR GRADES 1-8

Register for free at thespec.com/nie.

Deadline for registration is November 5, 2019, 9am.

Thanks to City of Hamilton, Tourism and Culture Division for helping us provide this resource to schools for free.
