

RETIREMENT PLANNING

A BEAR OF AN OPPORTUNITY!

While many investors are understandably concerned with their retirement savings, current market conditions present investors with a relatively rare opportunity. Research shows that investors who invest in stocks systematically during harsh bear markets outperform their counterparts who begin in bull markets. The simple fact is that investors in accumulation phases are in a better position to take advantage of the potential upside of a bear market than they are to realize big gains in a bull market. All investors need is the perspective that helps them realize what kind of position they are in historically. A professional financial consultant can help investors understand how to take full advantage of their potential.

Many investors are uncertain where to turn and have no idea how to get from where they are, to where they want to be, in the future. One of the most important components of any successful advisory relationship is to truly understand who you are as a person. I focus on what is most important to you, both financially and personally. To schedule a consultation, please give us a call.

Depressed equity prices enable investors to buy more shares for their investment dollars than they could otherwise purchase in a bull market.
